AMERICA LOVES HEROES, and our nation is fortunate to have an abundance of them. But most of these heroes never appear on television or in the paper. They simply go about their lives and work with an uncommon selflessness and without fanfare. Of all the unsung heroes who are making our country stronger, some of the most remarkable are the ones who work for it—America's federal employees.

If you know an outstanding federal employee—who inspires you and whose story will inspire the nation—consider nominating them for a Samuel J. Heyman Service to America Medal. The nomination period is open each year from late summer to early January.

The recipients of the Samuel J. Heyman Service to America Medals are publicly announced and honored each fall at a gala celebration in Washington, D.C. Winners (excluding People's Choice) also receive cash awards from $3,000 to $10,000.

Visit servicetoamericamedals.org to submit a nomination.

All career, civilian federal employees are eligible and anyone may participate as a nominator.

The deadline for nominations is Friday, January 15.
